LAMBTON SCHOOL RESOURCE OFFICER 2023 YEAR END REVIEW

2023 POINTS OF INTEREST:

Youth involved with police: 670 Youths criminally charged: 15 Youths diverted - YJCA: 38

Lambton OPP currently have two full time School Resource Officer (SRO). The focus of the School Resource Officer is to work closely with staff and students in both the County high schools, LCCVI in Petrolia and NLSS in Forest. Having officers embedded inside the schools on a day-to-day basis helps the students become familiar with, as well as developing a rapport with these officers, often on a first name basis. A quick response to all types of incidents in the schools helps to keep small issues from turning into bigger and more serious problems. SRO officers are often called upon to problem solve and counsel students who may have gotten off track with their classes or had poor attendance. SRO officers are frequently requested to assist the Principals and Vice Principals when dealing with the parents of students to keep them involved in their children's school lives.

SRO officers also assist the 25 elementary schools in the county when called upon, often talking to classes about social media issues and bullying. As well, SRO officers assist with the school's emergency procedures, including: lock down, fire and tornado drills.

SRO officers assist front line officers with their investigations either by taking it over if it involves students or assisting with paperwork, contacting/meeting parents or serving documents relating to Rebound or YJCA issues.

SRO officers work closely with the Lambton County Street Crimes Unit as well as the Lambton County Crime Unit when serious criminal offences or drug issues are involved. SRO officers often have information that assists in investigations due to their familiarization with many of the students.

SRO officers maintain a close working relationship with our community partners including, Sarnia/Lambton Rebound and St. Clair Child and Youth. This facilitates referrals and YJCA diversions. SRO officers monitor attendance at Rebound to ensure compliance and that assigned classes are completed. SRO officers also work alongside Probation and Parole officers in keeping up to date on youths in the school system, ensuring they are in compliance with their court-imposed conditions.

SRO officers are trained in Violence Threat Risk Assessment and are called upon to assist with assessment hearings conducted at the various schools in Lambton County. SRO officers attend committee meetings with Lambton Youth Mental Health Court Program as well as the Youth Problem Gambling Committee.

SRO officers have interacted with youths suffering from mental health issues in increasingly high numbers over the last year. In addition to monitoring and addressing these issues, officers have partnered with local agencies to reduce the impact of these issues that include depression, anxiety, and suicide.
